THE BORDEAUX BETRAYAL

By Ellen Crosby

Review by Wanda Hogan

Attention wine lovers – here’s a double murder mystery set in the foothills of Virginia’s Blue Ridge Mountains. Vineyard owner Lucie Montgomery had her hands full of intrigue as she plans an auction for a nonprofit.

Family, friends and opponents dot the landscape as she searches for answers to questionable events. With her elderly grandfather partly in toe, she realizes not all friends have her best interests at heart. And what about a very special bottle of wine involving both Presidents Washington and Jefferson? Find THE BORDEAUX BETRAYAL in the Clubhouse Social Hall on the bookshelf above the TV and find out yourself!

Available at Bartram Trail Public Library.

PRINCIPALS, TEACHERS, DISTRICT STAFF PROVIDE NORMALCY FOR STUDENTS

The first quarter of this school year has certainly been eventful, with not one but two hurricanes impacting our community. I am so grateful for the incredible work done by our principals, teachers, and district staff to provide as much normalcy as possible for our students.

We opened eight hurricane shelters, including Bartram Trail High School, during Hurricane Matthew. Our principals at these sites, supported by other principals and the maintenance staff at each, provided a safe place for almost 1000 people, including some very medically fragile residents. Then every school worked ceaselessly to open schools on Tuesday after the storm, allowing children to return to their routines and giving parents the ability to care for their own needs as well as help many, many in our community drastically affected by the storm.

My heartfelt gratitude goes to everyone who made a very difficult situation not only tolerable but uplifting. Thank you!

We experienced very little damage to our buildings, with the exception of our district office at 40 Orange Street. There was 13 inches of water in the first floor of this 115-year-old building. Renovation and repair will take 3-5 months to complete. However, the second and third floors were not damaged and will be back in service the week of October 17. Access to the building will be through the double steps at the front of the building.

The storm caused the School Board to cancel the groundbreaking for the new schools and the Nease expansion to a later date. Even though we have not had the ceremony, work is progressing on all the schools, including the K-8 in Aberdeen the K-8 in Nocatee, the new elementary in the World Golf Village area, and the Nease expansion. No new dates have been announced for the official groundbreaking, but I will share them as soon as they are available.

Another consequence of the storm was the delay in identifying a new superintendent for our schools. We have pushed the interview process to November 1-2, with a public reception on November 1 at First Coast Technical College, beginning at 6:00 PM.

Each candidate will introduce him/herself, explaining why s/he would like to be our next superintendent and then respond to three questions. Following these presentations, the public will be able to meet the candidates during the reception time. On the morning of November 1, the Board will interview each of the four finalists, beginning at 8:15 am, also at FCTC. These interviews are open to the public.

On November 2, each Board member will have private interviews with the individual candidates. The Board will select the new superintendent at our November 8 regular meeting. The interview process has been moved to FCTC because of the damage to our district office.

I thank you again for your patience through all the natural disasters we have experienced this year.

If I may serve you in any way, please contact me at Beverly.Slough@stjohns.k12.fl.us.

3 ADVANTAGES OF SELLING YOUR HOME DURING THE HOLIDAYS

Selling your home can be very stressful for some people. We are told that selling a home during the spring or summer is best. Being able to see your home during the holidays can actually benefit you as a seller during the holidays and might even allow a quicker and better sale. Here are a few tips to help you get that winning sale.

1. LESS COMPETITION

Having your home on the market during the holidays is great news because it will limit the amount of homes that you would be competing with for sale. Most sellers will wait until the first of the year or later to market their home; which means there is an influx of inventory so many home will be lost in the shuffle. Less inventory equals more buyers looking at your property! Keep the buyers interested by having your home priced to sell and "show" ready at all times. your home is priced to sell and that your home is in "show" condition at all times.

2. MOTIVATED BUYERS

A person shopping around at the holidays for a home is a person that is motivated to buy. They might have to relocate for work, be looking for a home for tax reasons or have been looking for months on end and just have not found their "forever home". If they are taking time out of their holiday schedule to shop for a home they are serious and motivated to buy now! Make it easy for a potential buyer to see your home with flexible showing times and being open to negotiating terms on a contract.

3. YOUR HOME LOOKS GREAT

Time to talk about decorations and clutter in your house. "Less is more" is a wonderful mantra when selling a home and the same goes for decorating at the holidays. Minimal yet tasteful decoration will not detract for your home's beauty. Make your home feel cozy, cheery and inviting with your decoration choices. These little additions will allow a potential buyer to see their family celebrating the holidays in your home! Timely removal of decorations after the holidays is also a must when selling your home. Remember other sellers are getting their homes ready to drop onto the market in the Spring.

When it comes to a medical emergency, what are the red flags?

Accidents happen and kids get sick — but when is it an emergency? At times like these, you may need to head to the ER:

-  A cut that won't stop bleeding
-  Your child took too much medicine
-  A bad hit to the head
-  Every breath is hard to take
-  Your infant up to 3 months old has a temperature of 100.4°F or higher
-  Your child between 3 months and 3 years old has a temperature of 102.2°F or higher
-  Really hurts for your child to move a stiff neck and has a fever

Where you take your child in an emergency matters. Wolfson Children's Hospital has specially trained staff in all of its children's ERs, with new locations opening in 2016.

For a full list of locations and helpful tips to know before taking your child to the ER, go to wolfsonchildrens.org/ER.

CLEANUP IN FULL SWING

The clean-up after Hurricane Matthew has begun in Aberdeen. Here are just a few pictures from the neighborhood of some of the damage and clean-up efforts here in Aberdeen. With the surrounding areas being heavily damaged and flooded we were very lucky the neighborhood weathered the storm so well.

An Urgent Reminder
Burglaries can happen anywhere, including our neighborhood. This is a reminder to keep your cars locked and to not keep any valuable items in your car. Also, we advise you to keep your porch lights on and to be wary of anyone suspiciously near your vehicle.

Thank you all, and stay safe!

STAY VIGILANT, EVEN AFTER A STORM

By Corporal Tommy Marmo

Chaplain Corp Member

As we are well into hurricane season I wanted remind everyone of basic safety tips and preparedness for storms.

I would also recommend checking out the St. Johns County Sheriff's Office website, sjso.org, which also has a lot of useful information and tips on not only hurricane preparedness, but on a host of other safety-related information.

Here are some general preparedness tips for a pending storm. Also, listed below are the two closest shelters in our area.

Bartram Trail High School
7399 Longleaf Pine Pkwy.
St. Johns 32259

Creekside High School
100 Knights Lane
St. Johns 32259

General Tips

1 Know where to go. If you are ordered to evacuate, know the local hurricane evacuation route(s) to take and have a plan for where you can stay. Contact your local emergency management agency for more information.

2 Put together a disaster supply kit, including a flashlight, batteries, cash, first aid supplies, and copies of your critical information if you need to evacuate

3 If you are not in an area that is advised to evacuate and you decide to stay in your home, plan for adequate supplies in case you lose power and water for several days and you are not able to leave due to flooding or blocked roads.

4 Make a family emergency communication plan.

5 Many communities have text or email alerting systems for emergency notifications. To find out what alerts are available in your area, search the Internet with your town, city, or county name and the word "alerts."

UNDERSTANDING HUNGER VS. CRAVINGS

By Stacey Bone

Do you know the difference between feeling hungry and having a craving?

Hunger is a signal from your body that you are running low on fuel. You need to eat so you don't run out of energy. A craving, on the other hand, is an urge to eat for some other reason - not hunger.

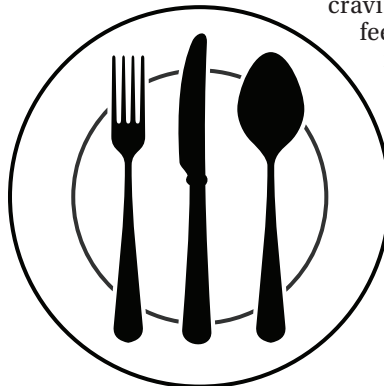

Something triggers you and then you crave a certain food. Let's look at the difference between hunger and cravings a little more closely.

HUNGER

The feeling of hunger varies from one person to the next. One person may feel lightheaded and weak while another may feel grouchy. Here are some common signs of hunger:

- Cloudy thinking
- Trouble making decisions
- Feeling lightheaded or weak
- Headache
- Feeling sleepy
- Feeling grouchy

Hunger signals tend to be high in the morning after you first wake up. Does your body feel tired before you eat breakfast? Does your head feel cloudy early in the morning? These are all signs of hunger.

A craving is the desire for a certain food or flavor. For example, you might crave a hamburger or something salty. You might crave something sweet.

CRAVINGS

If you aren't hungry, but you want to eat, you are having a craving. Cravings are usually linked to thoughts and feelings. Someone who feels lonely might crave fond memories of being cared for as a child. Someone else might crave ice cream when it is hot. Someone else might respond to a TV ad. The food may look tasty or portray an appealing way of life.

KNOWING WHAT TO EAT: Before eating a meal or snack, ask yourself these questions:

- Am I hungry?
- If I am not hungry, then why do I want to eat?
