Each month we field an eight-man team to compete against select clubs in the Jacksonville area over an eleven-month season.

The venues sequence through fifteen or more courses, including neutral (non-league) clubs, such as Deerwood, Palencia, and Ponte Vedra Inn for the season-ending championship.

For further details, please check the league website at jaxsi.org/index.html.

Briefly put, your first three matches are played off your USGA Handicap Index. Thereafter, like everyone else, you play against a league index based on the best three of your most recent six league scores, adjusted for equitable stroke control. The format is net Stableford, as specified in USGA Rule 32-1b, whereby points are awarded for net scores of bogey, par, birdie, eagle and double eagle:

1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 points, respectively.

Each team member plays in a four-man group with fellow competitors from three different clubs. The pairings are randomly assigned. So, you are as likely to play with a 2 handicapper as with a 30 handicapper. No matter, since everyone is playing against his own handicap, which guarantees a level playing field.

A monthly signup sheet is posted on the bulletin board in the golf shop. A random drawing determines the roster when more than eight players sign up. For more information, call 269-9300!

New Year's Resolution Safety Tips

It's the New Year and with that are probably some Resolutions to start walking or jogging. Before you hit the pavement here's some myths and tactics for safely running or walking in traffic.

Two runners or walkers' approach each other on the shoulder of a road, one running with traffic and the other against. Who is running in the correct direction?

If there's a sidewalk, the law says that's where they should be. But if the shoulder of the road is the only option, no federal or state laws mandate which side you should be on. The US Transportation Department recommends running or walking in this case against traffic.

Studies bear out this recommendation. Researchers found that pedestrians walking or running against traffic have on average a 77 percent lower risk of being struck and injured by a car. The reason is simple—you can't react to something you can't see. Facing traffic, you can react quicker to a way-ward—or distracted—driver. Running or walking against traffic allows you to see in coming vehicles and to react to them. If your back is to incoming traffic, you're far less likely to react if a car is not giving you an adequate right-of-way.

One of the tendencies of drivers on two lane roads when approaching each other is to move from the center of the road toward the shoulder—and closer to any pedestrians on the shoulder. Running or walking against traffic allows you to notice this adjustment and compensate. Pedestrians should always practice defensive running or walking. Also, if you're out at Dawn or Dusk the angle of the sun might be producing glare and shining in the eyes of drivers preventing them from seeing you. Defensive pedestrians always look for oncoming distracted drivers encroaching on their space. Staying aware provides crucial time to avoid a distracted driver who may not be centered in their lane or is blinded by the sun's glare. A pedestrian going with the traffic is not aware of what's coming and is at the mercy of the driver. In 2015 there were nearly 3,500 fatalities and 400,000 pedestrian injuries because of distracted driving, primarily from drivers using cell phones.
